

Research Engineer Needed
Applied Research Laboratory,
Penn State University, University Park, PA 16801

Full time job opportunity is available within Materials and Manufacturing office, Applied Research Laboratory in area of materials science and engineering. The candidate must be a US citizen with a minimum of a Masters Degree and a Ph. D. is preferred. The candidate must be willing to work in the diversified areas that include processing of materials by different techniques such as melting and casting, powder metallurgy and various coatings technologies. The thrust of the research effort is to develop processing-structure-properties relationship that includes corrosion, wear, erosion, mechanical properties. The candidate must be willing to work in different laboratories and research groups, conduct independent research, develop research programs, and interface with other engineers and sponsors. Candidate must have good interpersonal skill, communications, and able to write technical reports, technical papers and proposal.

Please contact for more additional information and send your resume to:

Human Resources,

Applied Research Laboratory

Penn State University,

University Park, PA 16801

OR

Contact:

J. Singh (e-mail: jxs46@psu.edu) or Tim Eden (tje1@psu.edu)